

We have all seen on the TV about “cowboy” builders doing shoddy work etc. Have a web site done with your before & after pictures, even customer references & recommendations.....save time & money by letting your clients see your portfolio & references, if your good at what you do show the whole world! Then Just advertise your business & web site in the papers saving you money explaining what you do in big adverts in the paper, just put your company name, what you do, phone number & website address, then customers can actually see the sort of work you do rather than you going round showing customers photos etc!
